Ferry, Ship Collide, Nine Persons Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—A ferryboat loaded with office-bound passengers and a cargo ship collided today in foggy weather on the Hudson River just off lower Manhattan.

Police said at least nine persons were being taken to hospitals. The ferry, the Chatham, owned by the Delaware Lackawanna & Western Railroad, was en route from Hoboken, N.J., to Manhattan's Barclay street pier.

The other vessel, the Seatrain Georgia, is a 503-foot, 8,325-ton vessel that carries loaded freight cars as cargo. The vessel was en route from Savannah, Ga., to Edgewater, N.J.

A tugboat nosed the ferryboat to a pier. An officer of the Moran Towing Co. reported the ferry "seriously damaged."

The Seatrain Georgia proceeded slowly after the collision for her berth in Edgewater, N.J. An official of the company which owns the ship said she apparently was not damaged.

He said Seatrain Georgia normally carried a crew of 45 men and a cargo of "around 65" freight cars.

NEW YORK (AP)—A ferryboat and an unidentified ship collided today in the Hudson River. Coast Guard rescue craft sped to the scene.

First reports did not indicate whether there were any casualties.

The mishap occurred off Pier 21 at Chambers Street.

The National Sheriffs Assn. will meet in Little Rock in June, 1961. The state association meets here in January, 1961.

About 55 sheriffs are expected to attend tomorrow's meeting.

Police Act to Curb Violence at Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—After two days of racial violence, emergency police powers were in effect in Jacksonville today. Negro leaders called off sit-in demonstrations at downtown lunch counters.

A wave of vandalism swept through Negro sections Sunday night, culminated by the throwing of fire bombs—glass bottles filled with kerosene—into a grocery, a curb market and an automobile. No one was hurt and damage was minor.

A gang looted a filling station and terrorized the attendants.

Windows were broken in more than 15 stores as bands roved the city in cars throwing bricks and other missiles.

Police arrested 138 persons—twice the number for a normal Sunday.

Asst. Police Chief W. A. Miller said gangs of Negro juveniles were responsible for most of the trouble.

Mayor Haydon Burns invoked emergency police powers at 10 p. m. Sunday. He banned any street gathering of more than four persons and unnecessary auto traffic.

A Negro mass meeting Sunday called for a federal investigation of the racial violence.

An estimated 1,400 at the meeting sought approval of a resolution asking President Eisenhower and the Department of Justice to investigate. The group vowed to continue picketing "until we have accomplished our objectives."

But later the Jacksonville Youth Council of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People called off sit-ins.

Rodney Hurst, council president, said, "If no positive effort to establish lines of communication between both races is forthcoming in the near future and no steps taken to redress our grievances we will have no recourse except to resume public demonstrations."

In the meantime, he said, Negroes will be asked to refrain from buying in downtown Jacksonville stores.

More than a score of persons were injured Saturday but most hurts were minor. Three white persons required hospital treatment.

Those arrested—25 of them were white persons—were charged with a wide variety of offenses such as fighting, loitering, carrying firearms and inciting to riot.

Patmos School Opens Sept. 1

Patmos Public Schools will open on September 1, according to Principal Clyde Mosier.

The buses will take high school students to Hope schools on regular schedule. All Negro students, first through 12th grade, will be transported to Hope this year.

Homer Guley, Negro, was charged with aggravated assault over the weekend following an altercation in which City Police said he slashed Mable Brown, Negro woman, on the arm with a knife three times. Officers said it required 40 stitches to close the wound.

French Plane Down at Dakar, 63 Are Killed

By CHARLES RONZY, Z. Z. Z.

DAKAR, Senegal (AP)—A four-engine French airliner, en route to Senegal, crashed today into the sea today and sank in 60 feet of water, carrying all 63 aboard to their deaths.

Air France officials said no survivors had been found more than eight hours after the crash and the eight crew members and 55 passengers must be presumed dead.

Some bodies have been found. Radio operators at Dakar-Yor reported the plane as it crashed in the churning over the Atlantic in its landing or the Superconstellation was on a flight from Paris to Abidjan, on west Africa's Ivory Coast. A French naval craft on helicopter search from Dakar located the hull of the big plane, resting on the sandy bottom of these in at 130 feet of water.

A few rubber rafts floated on the surface but there were no survivors.

Byrd Says U.S. Being 'Sapped'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said today America's strength is being sapped by federal bureaucracy, the Supreme Court, and the "arrogant influence" of labor union leaders.

In remarks prepared for the 33rd annual meeting of the American Bar Assn., Byrd spoke in these words of the Supreme Court:

"Judicial usurpation of power has reached a peak with the Warren court. Its decisions have invaded homes, handicapped police protection, disregarded state sovereignty, interfered with the authority of the executive branch of the federal government, and usurped the power of Congress."

In speaking of what he called the "arrogant influence" of labor leaders Byrd named President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers, President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union, and President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers Union.

He said services were delayed until the Negroes left the Assembly of God church.

A spokesman for the Negroes said they were greeted "cordially" at the Presbyterian Church but not admitted.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Central Intelligence Agency official said today the Soviet Union does a lot of old-fashioned spying in the United States "despite the unfortunate case with which they can quite openly obtain information in this country."

C. Tracy Barnes, a senior official of CIA, told an American Bar Assn. section meeting that the Soviets believe individual agents are so worthwhile that they will risk destroying the usefulness of top embassy officials in order to encourage the agent activities.

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP)—Ten tank cars loaded with gasoline and five full of liquefied gas exploded on the outskirts of Ottawa Sunday night after two freight trains sideswiped in a freakish accident.

Fire Chief Harry Gilliland said the fire still was burning today and that five more cars full of petroleum products were threatened.

The intense heat prevented firemen from approaching the wreckage but rain soaked the surrounding area and helped contain the fire. There were no injuries.

Regulatory Agency Study Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved plans for a conference to study administrative procedure in federal regulatory agencies.

Such a conference was proposed to Eisenhower by the heads of six of the regulatory agencies—the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Race Unrest Continues at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP)—Racial unrest marked by sit-in demonstrations continued into the second straight week here with new targets picked out by Negro integrationists.

Demonstrations were aimed yesterday at four traditionally white Protestant churches. The Negroes said they were welcomed in one of them, the Christian Science First Church.

It was believed to be the first time demonstrations were directed at Protestant churches.

The integration attempts led to charges of disorderly conduct and loitering against a young Negro and a white student, William McChir Freeman, 19, of Swansea, Mass.

They were arrested outside Bellevue Baptist Church shortly after they and two more Negroes attempted to attend services. An usher made them leave.

Freeman said he was an Amherst College student and a friend of another white Amherst student arrested last week while participating in a lunch counter sit-in demonstration with Negroes.

It was the second time in a week that demonstrations were aimed at churches.

Last week, small groups of Negroes were reported at two Roman Catholic parish churches. They met no opposition and a church spokesman later told newsmen the Negroes were welcome.

They were turned away yesterday at a Presbyterian and an Assembly of God church as well as at Bellevue.

A spokesman for the Negroes said they were greeted "cordially" at the Presbyterian Church but not admitted.

He said services were delayed until the Negroes left the Assembly of God church.

Premier of Jordan Is Assassinated

LONDON (AP)—Premier Hazza Majali, 44, of Jordan was assassinated by a time bomb that exploded in his office, reports from Amman said today.

Ten persons were killed and 50 injured by this bomb and one set off in another Amman government office, unofficial reports said.

Majali's death was announced by Amman radio.

The radio said the announcement was made on orders of King Hussein.

Government authorities in Amman announced last March that security police had uncovered a plot to assassinate Majali along with Nasser Ben Jamil, an uncle of King Hussein.

At that time, the government announced a number of persons, who had arrived from the United Arab Republic by way of Lebanon, had been arrested in the plot.

In returning in 1959 as premier of Jordan—he had held the post briefly in 1955—Majali announced the Arab kingdom would steer clear of military pacts with the East or West.

One of his predecessors, Premier Ibrahim Hashem, was unseated in 1956 by rioting in Amman against his attempts to take Jordan into the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact.

Majali's policy of nonalliance was not enough to hold off criticism from the United Arab Republic of President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Nasser called him a stooge for the British.

Majali served as minister of agriculture in 1951 and as court minister in 1958 and 1959 before assuming the premiership.

Jordan and the U.A.R. have carried on a running propaganda feud by radio.

The U.A.R. openly called for the overthrow of King Hussein and Majali's government. Jordan in turn called Nasser a traitor to the Arabs.

THE WOLF THAT RODE

By Nelson Nye

CHAPTER XIX

After the sound of Brett's horse had faded, Jo Fasker, cheeks flushed, collapsed into a chair. It wasn't too often a spell like this seized her, but each one was harder, she had to fight for breath.

At last she fell back, spent and trembling. She knew Brett was right in what he'd said about Currycomb; she'd tried to tell Tice. That Flagger was holding still was to reason for assuming he would keep right on doing it. But you couldn't tell Tice anything.

Hobbled O—the brand—was Brett's good. Backed by his crew of bleached-eyed Texans, his faith in the ranch transcended anything she had known. It was to him, inconceivable any man or thing could stand against them. There were no boundaries to his faith, no shaking of his bull, blind prejudice short of complete and irrevocable disaster.

Not that she imagined it would ever come to this. But just the same, things could get a little sticky if Flagger got his back up before Tice got the jump on those squatters. There'd be talk regarding less. How she hated the malicious backbiting of little minds, the only kind there were around here. Might even stir up an investigation. She'd been warned—almost begged by the Governor. That pompous popinjay!

Maybe she should have listened to Red; he'd been after her to get rid of Tice. But Bill was just like a part of the business—she'd always had Bill to fall back on. People didn't argue with Tice; they shrank away from him, knees weak as water. He was something; he had always been able to hold over them—habit—crowbar—symbol of violence. Just the mere threat of him for years had been enough.

Now Brett was back and no matter how it galled her, Brett was right about Currycomb. Flagger was no fool, and anything could happen with Brett mixed into this. He was one who'd never crawled for Tice, who had shown his contempt of the man even as a kid.

The cold remembrance of Brett's words came back to set her shaking. He was perfectly capable. The face of Clint Wilder, wavering through her head, leaving her drenched in sweat, turning her half crazy. Wilder—according to Brett—was just a garden variety of snake. This opinion of his character had got back to Clint, or maybe Brett had come right out and told him to stay away from her. No one could rightly say how it started; there'd been a rip-roaring dinner of a fight in the Red Wall the night Brett left. Clint had jumped Brett, grabbing up a bottle—the whole town agreed on this. Brett had killed him, cracking Clint's head with a rung off a broken chair.

There'd been a kind of fascination about Clint Wilder. Red at best was pale beside him, lacking Clint's subtlety, Clint's capacity for evil. The kid could never fill the place left echoing inside her but he was all she had.

Brett was in no better temper. Jo had never taken a licking in her life, except in the matter of that Wilder, and that deal had forced Brett out of the country. Well—not forced him maybe, but he'd gone all the same.

He kept thinking back to that

New Record Set by U. S. Swimmers

ROME (AP) — Carolyn Schuler broke the Olympic record and U.S. teammate Carolyn Wood almost matched it today as both Americans won their respective 100-meter butterfly at the Olympic Games.

Miss Schuler, 17, of Orinda, Calif., won the first heat in 1:09.8, to smash the 1956 mark of 1:11.1 set by Shelley Mann of the United States. This was only the second time the event was held in the Olympics, and Miss Wood, 14, of Portland, Ore., won the third heat in 1:11.1, just a tenth slower than the old standard.

British champion Sheila Watt won the second heat in 1:12.3, and Marianne Heemskerk of Holland scene, kept snorting, stewing, railing at the gail-the-hateful arrogance of her. But deep in his bones Brett was mightily bothered. It was all well and good to talk but come right down to it, what chance did he have any more than the rest of them? Jo had a habit of getting her way—a standing to keep up the prestige of Hobbled O. Joseph Fasker, and all the rest of it, and there was Tice to be reckoned with and Hobbled O's crew—not to mention Flagger and that broken-faced killer.

A red-haired rat. That's what that kid was; but this didn't make the fact of him less dangerous. Even a lizard could turn on you. A little rattler's bite was just as bad as a big one's—not that Brett was personally afraid of him. Not any more anyway than a man would be scared of any other kind of skunk. You didn't have to get soaked to know what it would do to you!

Brett did some hard thinking. You couldn't plan ahead very far. This deal was crammed with bog holes, riddled with impossibilities. There was nothing you could do about it. You took what came and that was the end of it.

Brett cut the roan into the north. A man might just as well get on with his work. It would take Lola a while to get here with Stoker. They'd pick up fresh horses of course, maybe change a couple times, but it would sure be tomorrow and close to dark before they made it. Tice would show up first.

A lot would depend on Flagger on how many of his outfit the Currycomb boss brought with him. Flagger might be pressured but he wouldn't be jumping into anything feet first. A man could talk to Flagger. He'd listen whether he did anything or not.

The corral where Brett had been working wasn't more than a mile and a half from the cows; he'd got onto them hearing them bawling for water. There was a windmill and tank at the corral and he'd fetched them back knowing they'd return again when they got thirsty. He wasn't going to be caught riding herd on them but he aimed to be near enough to know when Tice found them. It was about four o'clock when Brett reached the corral.

Anti-U. S. Wave Enters the Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME (AP) — The Americans were getting openly edgy today over what they claim is a wave of "down with the Yanks" sentiment in the Olympic Games.

The situation was brought to a head over the weekend when Lance Larson, a young swimmer from El Monte, Calif., was ruled out of the 100 meter freestyle championship although he recorded faster times than the winner, John Devitt of Australia.

"That's the way it goes," said George Harrison of Orinda, Calif., Larson's roommate. "Any time they get a chance to throw one into the Americans they do it."

"If we win, we've got to win big. If it's close they'll give to some other guy. Everybody wants to knock us down."

"It looks like we have to win by a mile," said the disappointed Larson. "I was certain I won."

Throughout the American spectators in sports where judgement plays a role in determining winners—the complaint was the same: Judges go against the Americans when they can do so without making the decision look too ridiculous. Americans never get an even break.

"I noticed it in the 100 meter swimming finals," said Dan Ferris, honorary secretary of the American AAU and veteran of many Olympic campaigns. "The fans went wild when Devitt was named the winner although it looked to most people as if Larson won."

"It's the same old story. People regard the Americans as big, rich and powerful. They want to see them beaten by an underdog."

Boxing coach Julie Mendez of Santa Clara, Calif., said he and his aides make a study of the judging lineup before every match involving a U.S. fighter.

"When we see certain judges on our list—particularly Iron Curtain judges—we tell our man he must try for a knockout," Mendez added. "We know if the bout goes the distance, the nod will go to the other side."

One U.S. Olympic official said the obvious anti-Americanism among the judges and some spectators was creating a giant psychological obstacle for the entire U.S. team.

"It's tough when you think you have to win by a mile or a knockout," he said.

To Launch Drive for Mr. Nixon

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Democrat Speed U. Reavis Jr. of Little Rock will direct a "Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge" campaign in seven Southern and border states.

Reavis will name state chairman for Arkansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

Reavis said he had voted Democratic until 1952, when he switched to President Eisenhower. He voted for Ike again in 1956.

Charles S. Rhiney of Washington, national chairman of the Republican volunteer campaign group, announced Reavis had been chosen director for his area.

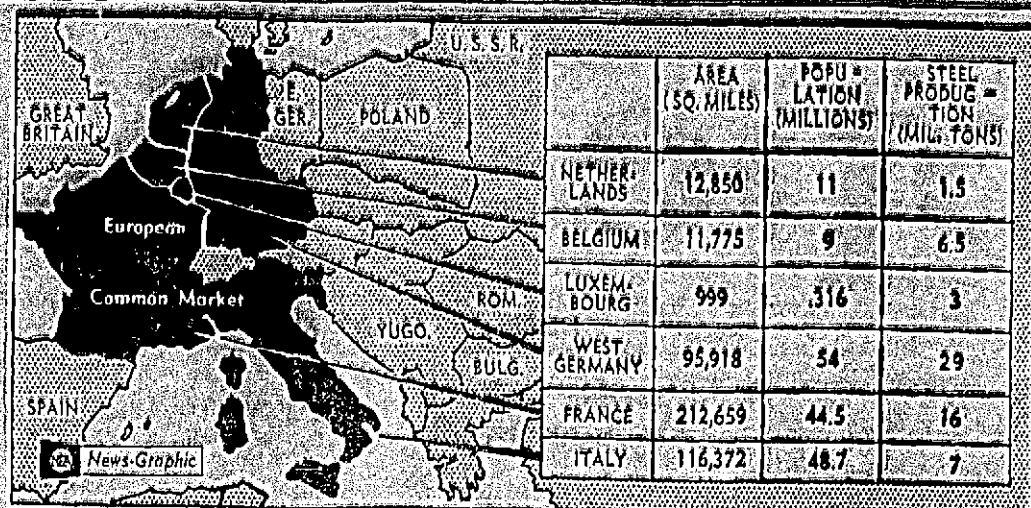

Hawaii's campaign for statehood began in 1903, only five years after it became a possession of the United States.

the fourth in 11.

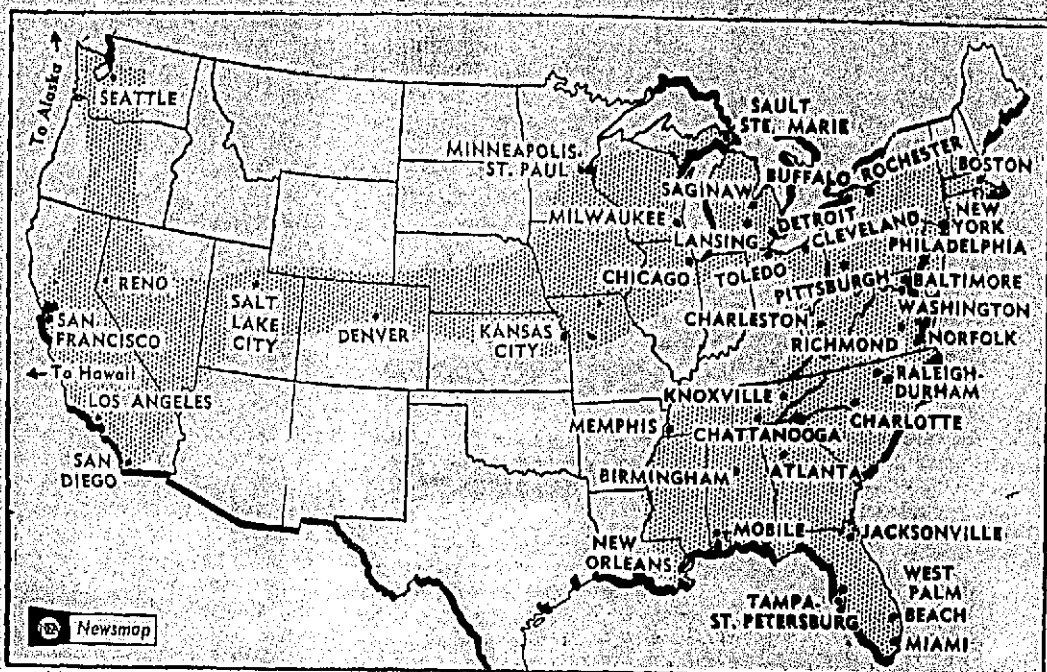

Other qualifiers were Australia's Janice Andrew, who finished second to Miss Schuler and also broke the mark with a 1:10.3.

Holland's Aartje Vorbij, Russia's Z. Belovezkaia and Karen Larsson of Sweden.

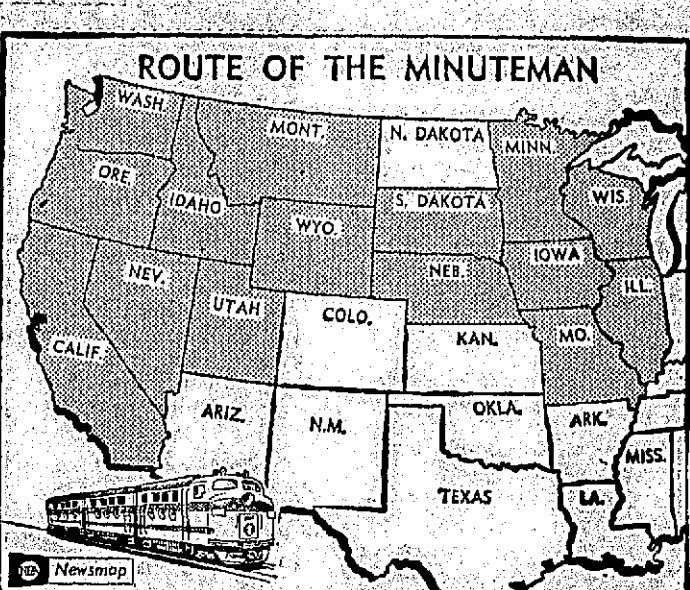

Australia's Dawn Fraser scratched from the event to concentrate on the freestyle and relay swimming.

SIX INTO ONE—The European Common Market, now in operation for over a year and a half, is profiled in Newsmap. It is an economic unit formed by a pooling of resources and lowering of tariffs on the part of Germany, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Italy and the Netherlands. The land area of the six nations is barely one-eighth that of the United States and one-sixteenth of the U.S.S.R. But by uniting, they not only add up their strengths but multiply their potentials. With nearly 170 million consumers, they constitute a market on a huge scale that may revitalize the role of Europe in the world.

MERGER POSSIBILITIES—If United Air Lines and Capital Air Lines combine as proposed, the transportation giant will cover the cities and shaded areas above. At present, United operates coast to coast from Boston, New York and Washington to west coast cities. Capital blankets the east coast and Great Lakes area, also serving southern points as far west as Memphis and New Orleans.

MISSILE TEST TRAIN—Fourteen U.S. railroads are participating in an experiment this summer to see if a Minuteman missile mobile defense system can be set up. The routes are: Union Pacific; Southern Pacific; Western Pacific; Denver and Rio Grande Western; Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Chicago Great Western; Duluth, Mesabe and Iron Range; Chicago and North Western; Soo Line; Illinois Central; Milwaukee Road; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; and the Northern Railway. The test train will operate in the states shaded in Newsmap above. No missiles will be carried, however, as the test will merely explore problems in communications and control.

Pirates Still Maintain Their Lead

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates still held their leading margin in the National League race today, but through no fault of their own.

The Bucs dropped their third straight to the suddenly revitalized St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, 5-4; but the Milwaukee Braves kept their 5½ game distance by getting themselves whopped by the San Francisco Giants, 15-2.

In other National League games Cincinnati defeated Los Angeles, 9-3; and the Chicago Cubs edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-5.

In the American League the leading New York Yankees split a twin bill with the Detroit Tigers, the Yankees taking the nightcap, 8-5, after dropping the opener 6-2; the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-1; Cleveland bested Washington, 9-1; and Boston took two from Kansas City, 2-1 and 5-4.

The Cardinals not only swept their series with the Pirates, but moved up to a virtual tie for second place with Milwaukee.

Alex Grammas, a 228 hitting utility man, contributed a home run and three singles to the St. Louis victory, and Hal Smith chipped in with a bases-loaded single. Joe Cunningham's sacrifice fly in the fourth, however, was the decisive blow.

The San Francisco Giants apparently lost all the pent up frustration of a team which generally had been picked as a stout pennant threat as they slaughtered the Braves, Bob Buhl was the loser, Jack Sanford went the distance for the Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds got six of their 13 hits in the first inning.

Texans Too Strong for Denver Team

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys and the Dallas Texans, representing the rival pro football leagues in a city that did not support its last franchise, are prepared to meet in a head-to-head struggle for supremacy at the turnstiles.

With Dallas the focal point of the battle for the entertainment dollar between the senior National League and the fledgling American League, both teams are rounding into form for the regular season.

The Cowboys, a new entry in the NFL, stacked with the slightly tarnished veterans of the other clubs, jelled offensively for the first time over the weekend and knocked off the Eastern Division champion New York Giants 14-3 in an exhibition at Louisville, Ky.

The Texans, apparently the strongest aggregation in the new AFL, remained undefeated by walloping Denver's Broncos 49-0 for their fifth consecutive triumph in a pre-season lost at Little Rock, Ark.

In other NFL games, the Green Bay Packers humbled Chicago's Bears 35-7, the Los Angeles Rams edged the Cleveland Browns 22-17, and Philadelphia's Eagles defeated the Washington Redskins 24-6.

The Boston Patriots beat the Oakland Raiders 28-14 in the AFL.

Bart Starr heaved two scoring passes, then gave way to Lamar McHan, who fired one 75 yards to Lew Carpenter for a touchdown in the Packers' room over Chicago. It was Green Bay's third win in a row.

The Rams came from behind to defeat the Browns before 48,175 at Los Angeles with linebacker Jack Pardee pilfering a Mill Plum pass and going 60 yards for the go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter.

The Eagles, leading Washington 7-6 at halftime on Sonny Jurgenson's 3-yard flip to Pete Retzlaff, broke it open with a 17-point outburst in the final quarter capped by Ted Dean's 70-yard punt return for a TD.

Butch Songin's 25-yard touchdown pass to Mike Long gave the Patriots, an insurmountable 21-14 lead in the last period against Oakland.

The Pittsburgh Pirates still held their leading margin in the National League race today, but through no fault of their own.

The Bucs dropped their third straight to the suddenly revitalized St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, 5-4; but the Milwaukee Braves kept their 5½ game distance by getting themselves whopped by the San Francisco Giants, 15-2.

Should Wife Forgive Husband's Philandering?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

DEAR Helen:

I could write you a book on my troubles. My husband is running around. While I do not have enough evidence to hold, he has been seen with someone. I fear if I try to talk to him he will lie. I cannot involve the person who saw him. She says wait and be sure.

I am about to have a nervous breakdown. I can't eat or sleep. We have been married 10 happy years till now and have three wonderful children. I love my husband. Here is what I can't understand — this terrible thing has drawn me closer to him. Please help before I fall apart. Should I wait or go to him now? — Desperate

Dear Desperate: Dorothy Dix once told a woman that the great majority of married men do not take their philandering seriously. I agree with her that it is perfectly possible for them to be "true in heart" to the wife while making love to another woman. As a "rule" the affair is only a casual detour on the road of matrimony. My advice is to forgive and forget and never, never let your husband know that you know. Incidentally, your friend isn't much of a friend if she bears tales.

Dear Helen: My mother-in-law is 57, too sick to work or live alone, and has no money or income. She has about $5,000 paid into a home and about $4,000 to pay. She has five children, all married with children. Her ex-husband has been paying her medical bills. K, one of her daughters, has a two-year-old boy—her husband is overseas. K lives in her mother's house. If K were to live in an apartment she would have to pay rent, light, gas, water, phone and food. All four children are willing to pay their mother's way, but do not want to pay K's. The house payment is $55 a month. We talked about each paying $11 a month. This seemed fair to all but K.

My mother-in-law is the very best but lets everyone run over her. We want no money from the others if she lives with us except for her doctor's bills and spending money. How much should K pay? Should the costs be split five ways? I want to show your reply to the rest of the family.

Dear Peggy: The expenses should be equally divided between the five children. K should pay along with the rest.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Philandering." "Mothers-in-law."

Says Faubus in Fight for Speaker

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Hon. John P. Faubus charged today that Gov. Orval B. Faubus had stepped into a contest over House speakership.

Bellevue and Little River Rep. Marion Crank are vying for the speaker's post in the 1961 Legislature.

Bellevue said Faubus had asked him to withdraw from the competition in favor of a third man, who was not identified.

Bellevue told newsmen he met with other House members in Stuttgart yesterday and wants to challenge Crank and his main supporter, Porty Rep. Paul Van Dusen, "to go to the governor's office and lay out pledges on his desk and just see who is leader."

Best but lets everyone run over her. We want no money from the others if she lives with us except for her doctor's bills and spending money. How much should K pay? Should the costs be split five ways? I want to show your reply to the rest of the family.

Before the Democratic primaries this summer, Bellevue claimed 80 pledges from the 100 House members. Twenty-two of these members were defeated at the polls, reducing his list to 58.

However, Bellevue said pledges from newly elected members have raised his backers to 74.

Faubus said he had talked to Bellevue and Crank and decided to let them fight it out.

The governor said he had mentioned the possibility of appointing a third man, but added he did not think the situation would come to that.

"I don't think it is in the best interest of the House, so far as its official functions are concerned, for this thing to go down to the opening day of the session," Crank said. "I hope that some way can be found to settle the matter before it gets that far."

He reiterated that either Bellevue or Crank was acceptable to him. Faubus said the "third man" plan did not come from Van Dusen, and that he had no particular person in mind for the role.

Bellevue said Faubus called him Friday and told him he looked like a dead heat between him and Crank and wanted him to select a third man as a compromise.

"I am not compromising and I am not dropping out," Bellevue said.

The Prairie County Inventory said he wanted to emphasize the fight is not with the governor, nor is it with Crank.

"It is with Van Dusen," he said. "I have pledges from 71 members of the House and not a single one has asked to be released. They (Crank and Van Dusen) claim to have more pledges than I, and that is why I am challenging them to put theirs before the governor."

Would Tie Down Demo Delegates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state AFL-CIO executive board has called on Gov. Orval B. Faubus and the Democratic State Committee to name presidential elector nominees who would be bound by the popular vote in the November general election.

A new state law provides that electors are not obligated to vote for either the Democratic or Republican presidential nominees.

The AFL-CIO action was taken in a meeting here Saturday. State President Wayne Glenn said the vote on the resolution was unanimous among some 200 delegates present.

The state Republican committee recently adopted a resolution binding its elector nominees to the Republican ticket.
